No Matter What by Debi Gliori

The book has been chosen for “Kansas Reads...to Preschoolers,” the One Book, One State project! Kansans will all be reading No Matter What written and illustrated by Debi Gliori. This book is a beautiful children’s story about Small, a little fox, who seeks assurance that Large will always provide love, no matter what.

“Kansas Reads...to Preschoolers” is a project of the Kansas State Library created to highlight the importance of reading to children, and also to highlight the library as a renewable resource of reading material. The goal is that every Kansas child between the ages of 0 – 5 (all 226,453 of them!!) will be read to during National Children’s Book Week, November 14 – 20, 2005. Governor Sebelius is the honorary chair of the project.

A website is currently under construction for the “Kansas Reads” project at www.kansasreadstokids.org. This site will eventually include reproducible bookmarks and posters; information about the book and the author; ideas for story times and programs based on the book; tips for reading to children; and many other helpful ideas to aid parents, caregivers and librarians.

For more information, or if you would like to help with the project, please contact Vikki Jo Stewart at the Kansas State Library, 620/331-8218, vikkijo@kslib.info.
